After the amalgamation of the two companies in 1821, Fort Edmonton emerged as the leading centre of the Saskatchewan district fur trade. HBC rebuilt the fort on higher ground in 1830 near the present-day Alberta Legislature Building. After the Hudson's Bay Company surrendered Rupert's Land, the Fort fell into disuse and was dismantled in 1915. Today the City of Edmonton operates Fort Edmonton Park, located in southwest Edmonton. The Park features a reconstruction of the Fort and, as a living museum, depicting the early development of Edmonton.	Copied 1969	1 photograph. -- 1 negative

	Conditions governing use: Use Conditions: Permission for use required. Subject to the Copyright Act. Note [generalNote]: This amateur film features the arrival in Victoria, BC of a team in the 1922 "Pathfinder Trek: Edmonton to Victoria via Jasper Highway." The trek was instigated at the behest of the Edmonton Automobile and Good Roads Association, which was hoping to create a northern route to the BC coast via the Yellowhead Pass. The Association offered a gold medal for the team who could first drive a car from Edmonton to Victoria via the Jasper route. Two teams entered the race, the first consisting of Charles Neimeyer and Frank Silverthorne, employees of Lines Motors of Edmonton, who drove an Ford Overland Four, and the second consisting of George F. Gordon and J.E. Sims, who drove a Ford Model T pickup. The Overland team left Edmonton on 17 June 1922 and the Model T team left Edmonton on 22 June 1922. Both teams arrived in Victoria on 4 July 1922 but the Model T team benefitted from the rudimentary road construction that the Overland team had previously improvised on its way and arrived in Victoria ahead of its opponents. The film, which is dated as 1939 and must be a copy of original footage from 1922, depicts the Overland team in Victoria along with unrelated footage of several sporting activities such as diving and golf.
